Puawai

Imagine it is the day the photograph was taken, and you are there. Write a story about what happens next.

During last week there was a new species of animals coming to the zoo. Our school was given enough money to buy tickets for every single student and teacher in the school. We were told to get a water bottle, lunch, towel, spare clothes and swimming togs and there was to be

STRICTLY NO ELECTRONICS!!!!

When we got to school everybody was already at the bus stop. The kids had all of their stuff and the bus hadn't turned up yet. I guess they were just too excited. One of the teachers Mrs Gonsha came down to tell Melanie, Debra, Jo, Tamara, Battie, Atticus and Rory to go back up to school because we weren't leaving until 10:30, as we had already checked in and we couldn't change the time to something earlier. It was 10:25 so we all got into the bus, then left.

We had just made it to the new animal enclosure. But the animals weren't there, so we waited. Then a photographer came in asking which students were taking pictures with the new animals? The principal announced that we were going to take a few photos for school, so the keepers brought the animals out. There were only baboons, that seemed strange. Just as the photos were taken, the flashes were too bright which made our eyes sore. Then the baboons went crazy. They were so crazy that we had to evacuate the enclosure.
